Stone Dry is an American interpretation of the traditional English dry cider style. It offers a bright apple aroma, juicy flavor and a clean, dry finish, showcasing an intricate balance between the sweetness and acidity of culinary apples and the tannins of traditional cider making apples. The traditional apples chosen by the cider makers are European bittersweet varieties like Dabinett, Binet Rouge and Harry Masters Jersey which contribute to the high tannic character and dry finish. The result is a refreshing, slightly puckering cider.
